Leaving a gift in your Will to Hospice Southland

A gift of a percentage of your estate will help Hospice to make a real difference. A fixed sum is also appreciated. These are effective ways for you to give to the cause that you feel is important, after you have provided for family and loved ones.

- * Gifting a percentage of your estate, once you have provided for family and loved ones, maintains the value of your gift.
- * Leaving a fixed sum, or residue of the estate to Hospice.

Remembering Hospice Southland

Every Little Bit Helps

A bequest to Hospice Southland in your will is a special way to support a cause that is important to you, and yet, has little or no impact on your lifestyle today. If you choose to leave a bequest to Hospice Southland, you can be assured that any amount – large or small, will make more of a difference than you realise.

Giving the promise of future support

Our service is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, at no cost to people needing end of life care. To continue to provide this level of care, we need the support of generous people, like you, to help us fund this specialist community service.

Your promise of future support to our organisation is an investment in your community, and we could never thank you enough for choosing to leave Hospice Southland a bequest.

Your legacy

The end of your life is as important as the life you've lived.

Having a will is the only way to ensure your family, friends, and the charities you care about are provided for in the way you want. A huge amount of our work, caring for local people at the end of their lives and giving them the best quality of life is made possible by people leaving a gift to us in their will.

Preparing your Will

If you do not have a will, we recommend you see a solicitor. You will receive professional advice and can be sure that your wishes will be followed.

If you have already made a will, but would like to leave a gift to Hospice Southland, you can ask your solicitor to make a simple addition to your will (see over page for some suggested wording.)
